About AMI Conference 2025

The Applied Materials & Interfaces Conference 2025 (AMI 2025) will be held from July 3–5, 2025, at Nanyang Technological University in Singapore. This conference will feature over 51 invited speakers from 12 countries, providing an outstanding platform for academic exchange and collaboration.

The 2025 conference will mark a significant milestone as we gather in Singapore, a dynamic hub that bridges East and West. This event will feature plenary, keynotes, invited, contributed lectures, panel discussions, and small group sessions led by distinguished speakers, including leading journal's editors and top authors. We will also celebrate outstanding research contributions with best paper and poster awards. Beyond the sessions, participants will have ample opportunities to network through receptions, banquets, and cultural tours, making this a truly memorable experience.
